

Host an Advance Care Planning Event for Adults with Mild Cognitive Impairment and Their Care Partners!

The Project Talk Trial has expanded to include individuals with mild cognitive impairment (MCI) at risk for Alzheimer's disease and its related dementias (ADRD).

Individuals with mild cognitive impairment at risk for ADRD are among those most in need of urgent advance care planning before further cognitive impairment results in loss of decision-making ability. Due to the rise in dementia diagnoses, it is important to understand the best way to facilitate such conversations, particularly in underserved populations.

Project Talk is a National Institutes of Health sponsored research project led by Dr. Lauren Jodi Van Scoy, a critical care physician at Penn State College of Medicine, in partnership with Hospice Foundation of America, University of Kentucky, and dementia researchers.

We're recruiting community organizations interested in hosting an event playing  a conversation game about advance care planning. The goal of these events is to gather information that will inform adaption of the Hello intervention to suit the needs of those with mild cognitive impairment at risk for ADRD.

Hosts receive a $300 stipend to support event expenses.

HOST REQUIREMENTS

- Recruit 4+ adults from underserved communities who have or who are at risk for ADRD who can attend with their care partner. Participants receive $25 or more in gift cards.
- Use only project-provided materials
- Attend all virtual trainings
- Complete one event on the project timeline
- Use a conveniently located venue

APPLY ANYTIME

Hosts are accepted under rolling admissions.

COMPLIMENTARY MATERIALS

- Virtual training to host a successful research event
- Tools and resources to plan, market, and host events

Project Talk research assistants attend all events to perform research activities.

CONNECT WITH PROJECT TALK

 @_ProjectTalk

 @ProjectTalkTrial

 ProjectTalkTrial.org

 info@projecttalktrial.org