Project Talk Update

Have you made plans to share advance care planning with your community?

Chicago, IL

Monterey, CA

Fall is in the air and we are ready! We have seven Project Talk events coming up this fall and we are buzzing with excitement. Join the fun and apply to host a Project Talk event.

We're looking for more hosts who are passionate about advance care planning and who can:

- Recruit 25-50 underserved adults
- Accept the assigned study tool
- Use only project-provided materials
- Attend all virtual trainings
- Complete one event on the project timeline
- Involve a trusted community person
- Use a conveniently located venue

Rural Organizations Needed!

U.S. rural communities face health inequities related to advance care planning. You can help get more people engaged in making plans for future end-of-life care.

Project Talk is recruiting more rural organizations to take part in the trial. Hosts receive a $300 grant, and participants can get up to $90 in gift cards.

Apply to host a Project Talk event today!

Become one of 75 communities involved in this NIH-funded research project. Project Talk aims to engage underserved populations, which include racial and ethnic minorities, low-income, and rural populations in advance care planning.

Project Talk events come in all shapes and sizes. Check out our event photo gallery!

Project Talk Events in September

Project Talk in Montrose!

Bethany Nehring, Bereavement Coordinator at HopeWest in Montrose, CO, hosted a Project Talk event this month. Thank you for bringing PTT to Montrose. Here is what Bethany had to say about their event:

I feel that the event went well and everything was very fluid. The event host and research assistants were well prepared and I'm very excited to have hosted this in our community. You can tell the excitement and inspiration this game has brought to people and their families for advance care planning and making decisions.

-Bethany Nehring, Project Talk Host

Project Talk in Rochester!

Phyllis Jackson, Community Wellness Project Manager at Common Ground Health in Rochester, NY, hosted a Project Talk event last week and it was a great turnout! Here is what Phyllis had to say about the event:

It was a breath of fresh air. There's a staleness around the idea of planning and thinking about death. For me and for a lot of people, it was a needed exhale. They've thought about it but haven't talked about it. This allowed them to have the conversation and exhale.

- Phyllis Jackson, Project Talk Host
